THE NERD
By LARRY SHUE

The VPW closes its season with the classic American comedy THE NERD. THE NERD was written by the late Larry Shue while he was an actor with The Milwaukee Repertory Theater. The play has been produced by regional and community companies throughout the country, in London and on Broadway. Still, it remains an audience favorite. The VPW is proud to bring this hilarious play back home.

Director MARK DRZEWIECKI has assembled a cast of comedic newcomers one venerable VPW lampoon and a production staff of farcical wits.

INTERESTING STUFF

This summer may be an important season for the VPW. Our uncertain future at the Plankroad School is well documented and the Board of Directors is busy exploring alternatives. One possibility is still to premature to specifically mention, however, the situation is fluid and you need to be prepared. At our annual General Membership meeting this summer the situation may come up for discussion and your input will be necessary. The date for the General Membership meeting is not yet set. Your next newsletter will provide more details. Be prepared to attend that crucial meeting.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Thank You. Our last appeal for fresh faces to fill our Board of Directors yeilded several positive results. AND WE'D LIKE MORE! Let's make this a real competative election and have an active and energetic Board leading us into a new home, a new season and a new future for the next millennium. Call BRIAN at our hotline, 297-9193 and leave a message expressing you interest.

STAGE DUST

By Afra Bean the Gossip Queen

JJ took the NWO Hot-tub to new depths at a recent Monday Nitro Party. There has been a great deal of rumor floating around this event and we are here to provide the final word: what isn't true easily could have been had it not been for what is true: nothing really happened that didn't really happen since it was really nothing what happened: Jazz will always be a reminder of the party to the party-goers when they go to parties.

Speaking of Parties. Tom Tom Tom and Tom attended a recent Kentucky Derby Party and file this report. 6 year old Nacny is seems was a precursor to the Milwaukee streaking movement predating naked north side runs by a half dozen years: Tom meanwhile gave full disclosure on his sorted assignations, until Tom was accused of creating similiar circumstances and Nancy changed her vote which was disallowed by Tom. A great time was had by all.

Jovon asked not be mentioned in the column this issue. We know why. And again show our sensitivity to our readship by happily obliging.

Jennifer finally made a comment and Victor has yet to reply.

There is specualation that the New Berlin election was tainted as a reported 125 dead people voted for the opposition when we were suppose to get those votes.

Margie thought Brians one jewel was symbolic of her wanting to beat Todd except he'd like it too much so she sells candy secretly from a locked drawer either for St Bernadette's or so Brian can get a fake one made and I don't know what it all means I'm only the messanger.

Evvie, Rosie, Barbara and Judy were having dinner together a couple weeks ago and mulling about not being lately mentioned in this column the reason being all have been far to busy to be disreputable and have maybe turned over that mantle of distinction to John.
